Web App Unveiled for 6th Annual Airports Going Green Conference

CHICAGO, November 5, 2013 -- The Chicago Department of Aviation is pleased to unveil an exciting new sustainable feature for the 2013 Airports Going Green Conference. Download the new conference Web App to your Smartphone to gain up-to-the-minute conference information at your fingertips. Check the Web App for the latest conference agenda, individual speaker information, the location for special events and more! The sustainable Web App reduces the amount of conference programs needed and decreases the use of other traditional paper items.

Use the Web App Features that include:

- Agenda - Detailed conference agenda and location information, a "My Agenda" section where you can save your own personalized conference agenda
- Speakers - Speaker photos and bios with interactive session links
- Exhibitors - Information and contacts for conference exhibitors
- Sponsors - Additional information on companies who are proud sponsors of the 6th annual AGG Conference
- Information - Learn more about the conference history, how to report your continuing education credits, and the newly developed AGG Sustainability Education Fund
- Live Interaction - Be part of the movement! Use the App to ask questions during the sessions, submit comments to be viewed by conference attendees, share photos taken during the conference, and follow along with #AGG13 on Twitter
- Local Attractions - There is so much to see in Chicago! To make things easier for conference attendees there is a listing of nearby local attractions
- News - Live updates and important items will be updated throughout the conference

For the latest up-to-date conference information at your fingertips, be sure to download the 6th Annual Airports Going Green Conference Web App!
